

Project Architect/Project Manager Position

Posted November 3, 2017

Gibraltar Design has an opportunity for a project architect/manager to join an awesome professional staff that continues to build and evolve on the 20-plus years of design excellence in the K-16 market across the State of Indiana. We are a full-service architecture and engineering firm located on the Northside of Indianapolis. We continually strive to provide opportunities for personal and professional growth.

Candidates applying need to have a minimum of 6-8 years of office experience and be licensed or have a path to licensure in the State of Indiana. LEED accreditation a plus but not required. Project knowledge in K-12 and higher education projects is preferred but we will teach the 'Gibraltar Way' of project completion. Other skills important to the success of the candidate, but are not limited to the following:

- Communication ability with owner and contractors/construction managers.
- Project Schedule, deadlines and due diligence
- Code and ADA review
- Field measuring and data collection
- Preliminary and conceptual design
- Coordination with other disciplines
- Construction document production; team and solo production.
- Shop drawing and submittals review
- Construction administration
- REVIT
- ACAD
- Basic Proficiency with SketchUp.
- Office Software Suite
- Design 'eye' to assist production team with design decisions.

Your success at Gibraltar Design is direct correlation of hard work and being a team player. We also have fun – at least once every month – from baseball games to bowling. Come join us!

If you have these skills, and looking for a new challenge, please submit cover letter, resume and two to three project examples to Bryan Ziolkowski bziolkowski@gibraltardesign.com at Gibraltar Design. Limit file size to 9.5 MB to ensure receipt. Compensation commensurate to experience and includes 401K, medical/dental insurance, and performance bonus compensation. No phone calls, please. Gibraltar Design is an equal opportunity employer.
